Indigo ConTrack™

The Total Contract Management Solution

In business, contracts are the basic building blocks of success. Without them, your company doesn't grow, it doesn't expand, it doesn't open new markets. Business alliances, supply chain management, service contracts, consulting agreements, new product development, confidentiality agreements, all require contracts which need to be tracked and controlled efficiently. Contract management is nothing to gamble with. Don't roll the dice. Control your contracts with Indigo ConTrack.

Know Your Obligations

What exactly are your obligations under each agreement? What are the obligations of the other party? When does the agreement expire? How many days notice are required to terminate the contract? Is that contractor properly insured? Are you forgetting anything?

Indigo ConTrack can help you answer these questions and more. Instantly, at the click of a button, you can have a complete report listing every contract that will expire in the next 30 days, the next 90 days, or whatever time period you elect. Run the insured diagnostic and produce a report of every contract for which the vendor has not provided proof of insurance. Purchasing manager leaving the company? A complete listing of every contract originated by that manager is a button click away. These are just a few of the ways that Indigo ConTrack can help you have more restful nights.

Designed By Professionals, For Professionals

Indigo ConTrack was designed by a contracts manager and risk management specialist for a Fortune 500 company and developed by Indigo Solutions. We asked "If you could have contracts management system designed that gave you all the tools you needed to tame contract management what would it be?" The answers laid the groundwork for Indigo ConTrack. ConTrack provides the tools for accurate and effective management of the immense number of contracts corporations must manage daily.

Indigo ConTrack gives you the power to control your contracts, before they control you.

Go Beyond Expiration Dates

Indigo ConTrack was designed to not only track, monitor, and report on contracts which vary in status, it also provides history reports on alliances and partnership relationships with vendors and customers, serves as a project manager system, and offers unique reporting capabilities for key decision makers. Indigo ConTrack's diagnostics capabilities and its system statistics screens give you in depth details about the status of individual contracts as well as your contracts overall impact across your company. Easily determine the average value of purchase contracts for ABC division that were originated by the southern regional purchasing manager or similar criteria with the click of a mouse.

Indigo ConTrack's unique "FlashNotes" capability ensures that no deadlines or milestones are missed during the pendancy of the agreement. You set the dates and Indigo ConTrack will make sure that you are alerted on that date with a "FlashPoint". Additionally, Indigo ConTrack will monitor the management status of all contracts and should you enter into claim, dispute, or litigation with a particular supplier or customer, users will receive a "FlashPoint" on screen, notifying them of the status any time they are working with a related contract.

Flexibility & Growth

Whether you are a start-up or corporate giant, indigo ConTrack can help you gain control of contract management and utilize the wealth of information sometimes hidden within your own contracting office. Indigo ConTrack is ideal for large corporations that often have thousands of active contracts at any one moment in time. The current version of Indigo ConTrack is a packaged Microsoft Access 97 application, capable of handling thousands of contracts at a time. We also have plans to offer a SQL Server version sometime in 2000.

We can customize Indigo ConTrack to your specifications. Indigo ConTrack is not intended to be a static system. We can, and will be, incorporating additional utility into Indigo ConTrack.

Conducting Due Diligence?

Indigo ConTrack is the perfect tool for determining exactly what commitments, both active and those in process, affect individual locations, divisions, regions etc. Make sure you cover all your bases and use Indigo ConTrack to take control of your contracts before they control you.
